CHRISTMAS CHEER

Soon To Be Spread With Millions Distributed By Christmas Clubs

Three hundred and fifty-five million dollars will be distributed to about seven and a half million Christmas Club members by approximately 5500 banking institutions and organizations within the next two weeks according to an estimate given out by Herbert F. Rawll, founder and president of Christmas Club, a Corporation.

The estimated average amount for each member is $46.50. The estimate is based upon a substantial number of reports from institutions operating the Christmas Club plan in different sections of the country. These banks report, on an average, a 14% increase in total accumulations over 1935. The average increase and the average per member distribution so reported has been used in arriving at the estimated figures for 1936.

In the distribution of Christmas Club funds this year, New York leads the other States with about $96,500,000 while the estimates for Pennsylvania are $36,200,000, for New Jersey $31,500,000 and for Massachusetts $26,500,000. New York City's Metropolitan District will receive about $52,000,000. The Bank of America N. T. & S. A. in California will distribute $7,000,000. The Bank of the Manhattan Company in New York has $3,250,000 for more than 80,000 members enrolled at 57 offices in Greater New York.

The Seamen's Bank for Savings in the City of New York has a total accumulation of approximately $1,425,000. The banks in Washington, D. C. have $6,300,000 ready for distribution, representing an increase of 20% over last year.

CANNING CONCERN CELEBRATES

Black & Gay, 25 Years Old, Entertains Its Employees and Thomaston Citizens

A notable social event in the history of Thomaston was the entertainment given last night by Black & Gay, Canners, to celebrate the 25th anniversary of that important industry. Employees of the concern and townspeople filled every bit of available space in Watts Hall, except the gallery, which was closed on this occasion.

Fred C. Black, president of the corporation, assumed personal charge of the entertainment, and his son, Gerald, who is associated with him in the management of the Thomaston plant, acted as master of ceremonies.

The program opened with an hour of motion pictures, selected with a view to pleasing a general audience—science, comedy, music and of course, "Mickey Mouse."

Between reels Gerald Black called for speeches, and the corporation's welcome to the public was cordially expressed by President Black, who reviewed in few words the growth of the plant, thanking the citizens of Thomaston for their attendance and the help for its loyal co-operation. With the aid of his son he hoped to carry on for many more years. The applause which greeted his statement showed how plainly his listeners re-echoed that sentiment.

"Shine" Feyler was the first employee called upon, and believe it or not, Carl didn't have a word to say. His countenance however, was wreathed in smiles and blushes.

Mrs. Josephine Stone and Miss Margaret Thornton of the office staff expressed their congratulations in happily worded remarks, and told of the cordial relations existing between the president and the staff.

Roy Goding, manager of the Brooks plant, was also called upon, but modestly declined the role of orator.

With the end of the picture program the guests were summoned to the beano table, and they remained engrossed in that popular sport until a very late hour. The prizes were done up in bundles and each winner was asked to make his own selection. Some of the prizes were of the usual order, but others stressed comedy. One woman for instance, drew a rolling pin, coincident with which, her husband made a hasty exit from the hall, and at last accounts had not been located. And it is generally admitted that "Beebe" was some picker.

Ice cream and cookies were served at the conclusion of the very happy occasion.

Nov. 6, 1911, a new industry blossomed on the Thomaston waterfront, the nature of which was indicated by the sign, "Black & Gay, Canners," the proprietors being Fred C. Black and the late George E. Gay. A brief review of later events is here given:

The Wiscasset plant was established in 1916.

The partnership suffered the loss of its junior partner in 1918, when Mr. Gay became a victim of influenza.

The Wiscasset plant was transferred to Brooks in 1919.

In 1920 the Thorndike & Hix plant in Union was purchased.

In 1922 the Oceanville plant was bought from the Portland Packing Co.

In 1926 the corporation removed its Thomaston plant to the present location, where it now has one of the best equipped canning plants in the State. It is located on the site of the original Gen. Knox mansion, "Montpelier."

The corporation began its career with the packing of clams, gradually taking on baked beans, brown bread, corn, apples and clam chowder, all of which commodities speedily gained a reputation which has found a ready market for them all over the country. President Black has kept closely in touch with modern methods of manufacture, and has watched the market so shrewdly that left over stocks have been rarely recorded.

The corporation has given employment to as high as 300 persons when the Thomaston and Brooks factories were both operating, and has averaged a yearly pack of 140,000 cases. With the death of Mr. Gay his interest in the business was bought by Alfred S. and John A. Black, brothers of the present head, who eventually became the sole owner.

President Black speaks in high terms of his lieutenants. Earl Hyler has been foreman of the Thomaston plant since the concern went into business; Roy Goding has been foreman of the Brooks plant since that was established; Carl Feyler has been an employee since the Thomaston plant was established; Forrest Stone has been in the office six years, and Gerald Black has been with his father four years.

The office staff keeps pace with the concern's development. Mrs. Stone, the bookkeeper, having occupied that position since 1919 while Miss Thornton the stenographer has been on duty 12 years.

HELD ON ARSON CHARGE

William A. Young, 14, Said To Have Admitted Causing Incendiary Fires

Six recent Rockland fires, attributed to an incendiary, were the work of William A. Young of Lisle street, according to the local police, who say that he confessed to setting them. The boy, who is 14 years old is alleged to have told the police that he started the fires in order to hear the sirens and watch the crowd gather. Said he got more of a kick out of it than he did out of the motion pictures. The arrest of the Young boy followed an investigation by City Marshal A. P. Richardson and a Portland representative of the Underwriters.

Here is a list of the fires which the police now charge up against him:
Oct. 22, late at night, the so-called Munsey Garage buildings on Limerock street, causing a loss of about $6000.
Oct. 22, half an hour after the above fire had been extinguished, a small fire at the Crockett stable on Lindsey street, causing small loss because of prompt discovery.

Oct. 27, in the morning, a fire in the Isidor Gordon block on Main street, doing about $1500 damage to the building and office of Dr. William Ellingwood.

Oct. 27 in the nighttime, two small fires at the Messer Garage building on Lisle and Park streets.

Nov. 11, in the afternoon, fire in the vacant building on Park street which had been occupied by the Knox County Grain Co.
The Young boy was arraigned before Judge J. M. Dwinall in Municipal Court yesterday forenoon, pleaded not guilty to the charge of arson and waived examination. He was held for the February term of Knox County Superior Court, bail being fixed in the sum of $5000. County Attorney J. C. Burrows appeared for the State and Harry E. Wilbur for the respondent.

The Southern Winter Cruise Contest is getting closer with the contestants fighting to hold those coveted first two places. On Monday, Francis Havener Jr., shot from fourth place to the sun berth with Arlene Havener hot on his trail and a very few votes behind for second position. No one contestant seems able to hold the lead for very long at one time so hot is the battle for votes. Score boards are maintained at all times at Perry's Markets with the latest available scores. LINCOLN COLCORD IN CAMDEN

With all sails spread, here's a reminder of the days when ships sailed the seas, and when the Penobscot was adding to the glory of it all.

Members of Limerock Valley Pomona Grange and their numerous guests learned much Saturday night about the early history of the Penobscot Bay region, with especial reference to the subject of shipbuilding. They learned also about the Penobscot Marine Museum which has recently been established at Searsport for the purpose of preserving the shipping records and marine objects of the eastern section of the coast of Maine.

Full of salient facts about the early history of this section was the graphic story unfolded by Pomona's guest speaker, Lincoln Colcord, one of Maine's foremost authors, to whom the tang of the sea is almost as essential as the life-giving fluid which courses in his veins.

The services of Mr. Colcord, as a speaker were secured through the efforts of Mrs. N. B. Hopkins, lecturer of Megunticook Grange, to whom the attentive listeners are duly grateful.

Mr. Colcord prefaced his recital with the story of the schooner Forest which was built on a mountain top in West Lincolnville, hauled through the streets of that town and launched at Camden in 1830. The story of this unusual incident was told in these columns about 10 years ago, creating widespread interest. The schooner was built by farmers and had a long career as a bay coaster.

During the French and Indian wars this section of Maine was practically unsettled. There was a military outpost at Thomaston as early as 1725, and some Indian atrocities were reported, but the Penobscot Bay section remained a virgin coast and forest while these things were going on.

Around 1755 "confidence was restored" and there began a pent-up emigration movement. Samuel Waldo acquired title to the Muscongus Patent and Gov. Pownall of the Massachusetts Bay Colony came in 1759 and selected Fort Point as the site of a fort. Gen. Waldo died of apoplexy. The next year 300 militiamen built Fort Pownall, and settlers began taking up land around Bucksport. Saxon English worked side by side with Scotch Irish and contrary to the opinion of some were not pioneers from across the waters. Between 1760 and 1770 several towns were firmly established.

Then came the Revolutionary period. As soon as this was over the settlements gained a new lease of life. It was astonishing how firmly they had developed their basic character. Always among them was a shipwright or a master builder, and Jonathan Buck. The first thing he did was to build a ship at Bucksport. The standard of technique was just as high in those years as it was in Great Britain. Farming began at the same time, and the settlements moved on to extraordinary proportions.

The development of shipbuilding in the Penobscot area was intensive. The full-rigged ship Lucy & Nancy was built in 1802 by Eleazer Crabtree of Fox Island and full-rigged ships were also built at Ducktrap and Orland. There was also early shipbuilding on the islands, which looked as good as the mainland to the early settlers. Ships built at Vinhaven, Islesboro and Isle au Haut were the equal of those constructed on the mainland, and the work ceased only because the materials became exhausted.

At this time—early in the 19th century—all of the coast towns were given up to one central industry—shipbuilding and ship operating. Searsport never had a population in excess of 3000, but in 1870 it had eight shipyards in which full-rigged ships were being built. Half of the population was engaged in this work and the other half was on the sea operating ships. The owners made much money and as a result the countryside was built up. Otherwise there would not be the fine old houses now seen there.

Mr. Colcord then told of the ambitious program of the Penobscot Marine Museum at Searsport which is to perpetuate marine history and marine relics.
At a special town meeting in August the town of Searsport presented to the museum a handsome old brick structure, formerly the Town House, but unused for many years. This building was given to the town in 1845 by David Sears, the China merchant and founder of a well-known Boston family, when Searsport was named for him. At that time Mr. Sears owned Brigadiers Island at the head of Penobscot Bay, a part of the township now known as Sears Island, and had a summer mansion and fancy stock farm there.

This old Town House is being remodeled as the home of the museum under the direction of Charles Cornelius, New York architect, who designed the American wing of the Metropolitan Museum, and will be ready for occupancy next summer.

The trustees are Admiral William Veazie Pratt, U.S.N., (retired) of Belfast; Ralph Miller Johnson of Belfast and New York, Prof. Samuel Eliot Morison of Mt. Desert and Boston; Capt. Phineas Banning Blanchard of Searsport and Brooklyn; Clifford Nichols Carver of Searsport and New York; Ralph Whittier of Bangor; Commander Carleton Fenton Bryant, U.S.N., of Searsport and Quincy; James Harper Duncan, Robert Porter Nichols, and Lincoln Colcord of Searsport; and the first Selectman of the town of Searsport, ex-officio.

The officers are: President, Clifford Nichols Carver; vice president, Robert Porter Nichols; treasurer, Ralph Whittier; secretary, Lincoln Colcord.
It is desired that there be one room which will be devoted to shipyard tools for caulking and rigging, sail-making equipment and all other objects pertaining to nautical craftsmanship. The museum should also have, Mr. Colcord says, a complete collection of the best types of rigged models and a marine library.

Maine has always been a distinct unit in the American maritime scene; geographical position, wealth of shipping resources, and the special qualities of its population all have contributed to this fact. The history of Maine shipping from Colonial times is a story by itself of significant importance. The aim of the Penobscot Marine Museum is to preserve and build up this special story from its beginnings, both by a policy of research and publication and by a proper collection and exhibition of objects illustrating the record.

The field is practically untouched, and the opportunities are beyond calculation. An economic study of New England ship building, with special attention to its co-operative aspect, has never been made. Custom House records from the establishment of the Customs Service in 1790 have never been examined as a whole with respect to accuracy of (Continued on Page Six)

General Committee For Furnishing Community Building To Formally Organize Thursday

The Community Building Furnishing Committee is all set and ready to go with its first regular meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon. A general furnishings specification room by room is completed and a special committee with groups from men's and women's divisions will be appointed to make a careful study of what actual furniture should be provided.

An extremely popular entertainment has been volunteered by the famous Forty Club Minstrels who will appear in all their old time glory under direction of Arthur F. Lamb with such standard favorites in the cast as Maynard Marston, Lou Cook, Doc Conley, Pat Lawrence and the augmented chorus.

An extremely important group will be the initial gifts committees, one operating to secure individuals, firms or societies willing to equip a room to bear a memorial name, and another group to seek volunteered gifts of furniture or equipment.

The dedication ceremony will be a public affair with a minimum charge to insure a record crowd and some truly extraordinary entertainment that is already being arranged. A Buy-A-Chair Club is also being formed with special honors and privileges to the members. Other projects will unquestionably be developed.

The present membership of the men's group includes: The Mayor, W. I. Ayer, T. H. Chisholm, Dr. William Ellingwood, A. W. Gregory, John M. Pomeroy, James Connellan, L. E. McRae, W. J. SOCIAL SECURITY

Read This Statement and You Will Understand All About It, Maybe

The social Security Board yesterday began the gigantic task of enrolling 26,000,000 American wage and salary earners in its compulsory old age insurance plan which goes into effect Jan. 1.

The old age annuity plan is one of three main features of the Social Security Act. The others are: 1. Federal aid to the needy aged, the needy blind, and dependent children; 2. Unemployment insurance. Both these features of the act, however, are state-administered. The old age annuities are wholly federal and do not involve the question of need.

Starting New Year's Day, the government will tax each American worker not exempt from the plan 1 percent of his wage. Employers will be taxed another 1 percent. The workers' deductions will be made from their pay envelopes. The tax gradually will increase until the worker is paying 3 percent in 1940 and the employer another 3 percent.

This tax is expected to bring $247,000,000 into a special treasury account next year. Five years from now, when the fund will have reached a total of $3,656,000,000 eligible workers of 65 will be able to retire on a pension the amount of which will be determined by the size of their earnings in the interim.

Pensions in 1942 will total $52,800,000, the government estimates. They will range eventually from $10 to $35 a month. The upper limit will not be reached in 1942, since the length of time a worker contributes also helps determine the retirement annuity.

Workers now 60 years old who have steady jobs and receive $25 a week will be eligible to retire in 1942 with an assured income of $18 a month. A worker now 35 who earns an average of $25 a week until he is ready to retire will get $45 a month for the rest of his life starting in 1967.

The plan, however, is not limited to workers of small income. Men and women earning $10,000 a year or more will pay taxes and receive benefits—but their income will be considered to be $3,000 for the purposes of the plan. This means that they will be taxed on the basis of $3,000 a year income and receive benefits in proportion.

But there are large classes of workers who will be exempt because of the type of employment in which they are engaged. The act exempts farm labor—which includes 14,000,000 persons, according to government estimates. Also excluded are government employees—state, federal and local—domestic servants, workers for certain non-profit organizations, sailors and railroad workers already insured under the railroad retirement act.

THE STARRETT BRIDGE

Funds for reconstructing twelve flood-damaged bridges in Maine, totalling $254,000 have been allocated by the President, WPA announced yesterday. All are on town-owned property.

The projects will be constructed under the general supervision of the Bureau of Public Roads of the Department of Agriculture.
$2000 is allocated to reconstruct the Starrett bridge over Georges River in Warren.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had my life to live again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness. —Charles Darwin.

JACK FROST

The Frost looked forth on a still, clear night,
And whispered, "Now, I shall be out of sight;
So, through the valley and over the height,
In silence I'll take my way.
I will not go on like that blustering train,
The wind and the snow, the hail and the rain,
That make such a bustle and noise in vain;
But I'll be as busy as they!"
So he flew to the mountain and powdered its crest,
He lit on the trees, and their boughs he dressed
With diamonds and pearls; and over the breast
Of the quivering lake, he spread
A coat of mail, that it need not fear
The glittering point of many a spear
Which he hung on its margin, far and near.
Where a rock could rear its head,
He went to the window of those who slept,
And over each pane like a fairy crept;
Wherever he breathed, wherever he stepped,
By the light of the morn were seen
Most beautiful things—there were flowers and trees,
There were beavies of birds and swarms of bees;
There were cities and temples and towers; and these
All pictured in silvery sheen!
But he did one thing that was hardly fair—
He peeped in the cupboard; and finding there
That all had forgotten him to prepare
"Now, just to set them a-thinking,
I'll bite this basket of fruit," said he,
"This costly pitcher I'll burst in three!
And the glass of water they're left for me,
Shall 'chick' to tell them I'm drinking."

SOCIAL SECURITY: STUDY THE SUBJECT

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

I request the co-operation of The Courier-Gazette in the interest of all the employers and employees who are to be affected by the Social Security Act.

Nov. 24, forms will be made available by delivery to employers, for completion by employees. Accuracy in completing these forms is very essential; these forms will constitute most important evidence in obtaining the old age pension, and in some cases will doubtless be important evidence in court. To aid in accomplishing accuracy, (1) employers are asked to assist employees in completing the form, and (2) whoever completes the form is asked to read carefully the instructions thereon, BEFORE starting to fill out the form. Such care will reduce to a minimum the necessity of returning cards for correction, with consequent delay and trouble for all concerned. The following possibilities of error should be especially guarded against:

- (1). When a full name is requested, write the full name, such as "John Paul Jones," and not "John P. Jones" or "J. P. Jones."
- (2). In stating place of birth, include the County, such as "Rockland, Knox County, Maine."
- (3). Be sure every question is answered, particularly No. 13 and No. 14, to which some persons might naturally omit any reply.

If employers and employees will clip this item from the newspaper and retain it for use when the card is before them for completion, it will minimize possibility of error.

A FRIGID DECEMBER

That's What Rideout Predicts—How He Arrives At His Decisions

Maybe you aren't very interested in the weather. Perhaps tomorrow will be just another tomorrow, whether it rains or whether the sun shines. Then on the other hand, perhaps you are one of the nation's millions who absolutely depend on the weather for bread and butter.

In that event, you must have cocked an interested ear when E. B. Rideout, WEEI's meteorologist, made this prediction for the autumn months.

"Indications point to a cold and stormy three months. The percentage of storms will be greater than periods of clear weather. Rainfall resulting from these storms will be quite generally above the normal average, and while October will have a greater percentage of storms, November and December will be much colder than average."

Put on your overcoat, young man!

He made that long-range forecast several weeks ago. Think back, now that the time encompassed is half past, and note its nearness to facts.

His excellence was won after nine long years of experience. His tests to foretell weather days and months in advance have borne fruit. He has been the only daily weather broadcaster in the United States over that long period of time.

In the past year he has been very successful. Last fall he predicted a cold, stormy winter with plenty of snow. Rideout was correct. Early this spring he forecast a dry summer for New England. Again he was right. His warning of drought for the Midwest was given in bulletins west of the Mississippi. He has received many commendatory letters for this warning. True, he didn't paint the picture of drought dark enough, but despite other predictions to the contrary, he registered another score.

Since these foregoing facts are now a matter of record and it has been definitely established by records that Rideout is better than 92% correct in his radio forecasts, it may be interesting as to how these conclusions are reached. We shall not attempt to explain this in technical detail. All we can say is that Rideout employs a different method than do other well known meteorologists.

The weather bureau relies on the cycle hypothesis. Others base their long-range forecasts on solar energy, while still others lean to the oceanology theory (the effect of water temperature on our meteorological conditions).

But Rideout bases his long-range predictions on astronomy, making his forecasts on planetary conjunctions and opposition. In other words, the position of the stars at certain times give him the clue as to what the weather will be. Rideout is not an astrologer. He modestly claims to know little about astrology; yet in making his long-range predictions he has eliminated many of the complicated formulas from what is known as astrometeorology.

He didn't listen to Mr. Rideout

He has simplified the system for his own use to a point where with little more research, he may be able to increase his batting average to 95 percent instead of 92 percent.

Mr. Rideout became convinced many years ago of the relation between the planets and our weather. The impetus given his study along these lines came first from the obvious phenomenon of the moon's effect on the tide. For nearly two years he has been engaged in research, as to the position of the moon on either side of the equator—and what effect it has on the temperature.

According to this star-gazer the winter moon runs higher than the summer moon, and there seems to be a period of warm weather in January which he believes may be explained by the position of the moon in its relation to the sun. Further study and research may result in more accurate forecasts during the winter, particularly in January.

While Mary Twain once said, "Everyone talks about the weather and no one does anything about it," if that famous writer were alive today, he would probably agree that Rideout was trying to do something about it.—From the Radio Guide.

MRS. ALLISON M. WATTS

Knox County friends, particularly at Tenant's Harbor, where she had made vacation visits; and at North Haven where she made her home in the parsonage 25 years ago, are pained to learn of the death of Mrs. Allison M. Watts, which occurred recently in Jamaica, Vt.

The deceased was born at Crafts-bury Common, Vt. daughter of the late Dr. C. W. Dustin, who with his father, Dr. Daniel Dustin, practiced medicine in that old town 98 years. Educated at Crafts-bury Academy, Johnson Normal School and Northfield Seminary she taught school a few years and then became Mr. Watts' bride in 1907 when he began his ministry.

After a pastorate of 13½ years in the Federated Baptist, Congregationalist and Methodist Churches of Westford, Vt. where she served as girls' 4-H Club leader they went last April to the Federation Church of Jamaica in the heart of the beautiful summer home region of southern Vermont. At the age of 56 she passed to her rest Nov. 7, and was buried in her native town beside her five-year-old son Joseph, who was killed in a fall from a cliff in 1921, during the couple's five years' residence in Dixville, Quebec.

In her immediate family she leaves to remember her beautiful love, her husband and five daughters.

WILLIAM G. HUBBARD

William G. Hubbard, 86, former postmaster and once one of the drivers on the old Bath-Wiscasset stages, died Thursday at his home in Wiscasset, after a short illness. Mr. Hubbard, a native of Wiscasset, not only played a part in the old form of transportation, but when the Knox and Lincoln Railroad, now the Bath-Rockland branch of the Maine Central was in its first stages, he assisted in surveying the route. He was postmaster from 1906 until 1914. He had served the town as a fire warden for 35 years.

For 25 years, until 1903, he was widely known in hotel circles as proprietor of the Hilton House. Funeral service will be conducted at St. Philip's Episcopal Church, this afternoon at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery, Woolwich.

HERBERT H. SPEAR

Herbert H. Spear, a well known resident of The Meadows, died at his home on the West Meadow road Saturday night, aged 78 years.

The deceased was a son of the late Thomas Spear, and was formerly employed in the lime industry. His wife died several years ago, and a brother, Charles, is the only near surviving relative. Mr. Spear was of a quiet, retiring disposition, but during his long residence in Rockland had made many friends, and retained them.

Funeral services will be held at the late residence this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Representative Cleveland Sleeper, Jr., was guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club meeting last night, and was kept busy receiving congratulations on the birth of his third child—a son weighing 10½ pounds.

Book Week Nov. 15-21

Every man and woman who has had a happy childhood in which books played a part, remembers certain books that helped to make his childhood happy. A "Child's Book" is one meant to be read by children and offered to them for that purpose, while a "Children's Classic" is a child's book that has been repeatedly re-read, and is likely to continue to be re-read, not only by the same child but by successive generations of children. It is the re-reading that makes all the difference.

—May Lamberton Becker, in "First Adventures in Reading."

A great many weeks have come and gone but Book Week continues to flourish. It has been observed each year since 1919. "Books to Grow On"—The Modern World For Young Readers—is the theme for Book Week 1936.

Modern boys and girls want books closely linked with the drama of life around them. Their reading these days ranges over a wider field than ever before. They read to know, to acquire an understanding of a world which like Alice's, grows "curiouser and curiouser." In recent years authors and publishers have responded with new types of books, unique in the history of children's literature. Science, the arts, geography, history, government and a great range of subjects are now presented in a straightforward style devoid of any spirit of condescension. From the picture book age on the 'teens, these books make adventurous reading and have been welcomed with open arms by the younger generation.

The favorites of former years, books which have always been loved by children, fairy and folk tales and the great classics which are "books for all times," are by no means neglected and are available in many attractive new editions. A mingling of the new with the old, is, of course, the ideal combination and if many books are accessible to them, the young readers may be counted on to make their own discoveries, following new trails in the books which give them a factual and historical background for the process of growing up in the modern world and finding, too, in the great books of the past the enchantment in which many generations of children before them have delighted.

The Children's Room at the Library is gay this week with many new books and attractive exhibits featuring "Books To Grow On" in the way of "Hobbies." More Books In The Home, "Books of Adventure," and others. There is to be a special story hour Friday at 4 o'clock with many of our beloved books characters. A contest featuring "Ladders of Books" will get underway. The climbing of the ladders will start with the name of a book chosen from the Book Week exhibit. The two children who first complete the climb to the top rung will be given prizes.

We shall be looking forward to a visit from you all.

Nov. 1 marked the beginning of a new fiscal year in the life of the Library. Although again obliged to operate on a reduced budget for the year 1935-36 making a regrettable decrease in the number of new books purchased, circulation records show that 55,021 books were circulated during the year an increase of 1,866 over the preceding year and a registration of 1,265 new borrowers as compared with 1,117 of last year, making the total registration one-third the population of Rockland. It brings great joy to know there was an increase of 1,356 books of non-fiction over the preceding year, showing that our reading public are leaning toward the more worthwhile in books—the aim of any librarian.

Labeled as "the best historical story I've ever read" is "Drums Along the Mohawk" by Walter D. Edmonds. Have you read it?

"A delightful fantasy" expresses "The Enchanted Voyage" by Robert Nathan. Poor ineffectual Hector Peck takes a land voyage in this home-made boat and finds, thereon, magic and enchantment.

I was fascinated after reading the first page of "An American Doctor's Odyssey" by Victor Heiser, M. D. Reminiscences extraordinary, beginning with the Johnstown flood and continuing through many years of most unusual and always useful events as an authority on contagious diseases in 45 countries, much of the time under the auspices of the Rockefeller Foundation.

A brisk and colorful romance is found in "John Dawn" by Robert P. Tristram Coffin. A captain of clipper ship days.

We have been "Sailing Through History" with members of the Methebesec Club and find the trip delightful. A corner of the library is displaying an exhibit of paintings of famous ships along with books and material found at the library. Capt. Anders Anderson kindly loaned a bottle ship for the exhibit.

We are ready to solve any of your club problems. Give us a ring—1121.

NORTH HAVEN

Several other relatives and friends came from Eagle and Camden to attend the funeral. Mrs. Carver is now with her daughter Mrs. P. L. Brown at the village.

North Haven Grange held its annual fair with Negro Minstrels Thursday and dance Saturday. The 4-H Club, Waterman Co. and W. S. Hopkins had booths. Supper was served each night. The function was well patronized and enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Ethel Howard and family have moved to the Leadbetter double-tenement house near the village.

Several hunters left Monday for the big woods with deer and bears in mind.

AT PARK THEATRE WEDNESDAY

Curses! These four comedians of "Mummy's Boys" rush in where angels fear to tread, braving the curse of a Pharaoh's tomb in a fast and furious story of the mystic Egypt that was. Of course Wheeler and Woolsey get mixed up with magicians, harem and supernatural things amid the tombs. Barbara Pepper (above) provides the romance and Willie Best has the role of "Catfish" who stows away on the archaeological expedition to bask in Egypt's ancient glories.—adv.

THURSDAY

Guy Kibbee, Sybil Jason and May Robson—stars of "The Captain's Kid," the first National comedy-drama, compose a trio of "pirates" who capture the hearts of everyone who sees them in their hilarious story of sea robber fiction and treasure hunts.—adv.

Another expert in marine biology has approved our plans for the artificial rearing of lobsters. Ernest W. Barnes of the Department of Conservation of the State of Massachusetts expresses the belief "that the wonderful lobster growing areas along the Maine coast should be supplemented by artificial rearing inasmuch as the temperature of the water is rather low for satisfactory development of lobsters through the larval stages." Mr. Barnes was instrumental in developing the Connecticut plant which is highly successful and is considered one of the world's leading authorities on lobster and fish culture. He has offered his services to this Department, free of charge, when we are ready to commence our work in the Spring.

More than 5,000 pounds of seed lobsters were placed in the U. S. Government hatchery at Pemaquid this week and will be kept there during the winter. Artificial rearing will start at the Federal hatchery at Boothbay Harbor in the early spring. Efforts to secure funds for the establishment of a State hatchery will be made at the coming session of Legislature.

The advisability of launching a program of marine farming of clams became more apparent this week with suggestions from the Dominion of Canada that the growing demand on its clam beds as the result of American importation would probably result in further regulations for their protection. Due to the continuous decrease in our clam production we have been importing more and more from the Provinces each year. With drastic regulations made by Canada and our supply practically extinct we would be completely at the mercy of our northern neighbors. Maine has a great opportunity along these lines.

The scallop season is well underway. New beds opened along the shores of the Provinces have hurt the market to some extent but the Maine boats are doing fairly well. There are more dealers than in previous years but this is helpful as it increases the sales effort on Maine scallops. Abnormally windy weather is reported by the fishermen this fall.

The Eastport Sentinel, one of Maine's best weeklies, suggests that Maine folks eat choice fish dishes instead of chicken, turkey and other well known morsels for Thanksgiving. This is a splendid thought. Not only will it add enjoyment to the festive occasion but be more than appropriate on this day when we should give thanks, among other things, to the wonderful heritage that we have in our fishing grounds and our sturdy, honest, hardworking fishermen and their families. By serving fish on Thanksgiving you will offer help and encouragement to a great industry.

The Sentinel is one of the best sources of fishing news and features in the country. Editor Emery stresses this industry at every chance and it makes mighty interesting reading.

Program Director Arthur Bucknam of Station WCHS has written a dramatic sketch, built around the lives of Maine fishermen and it is hoped that this can be put on the air for a number of weeks. Many progressive dealers are interested in the plan and have stated their desire to co-operate.

The residents of Vinalhaven and their active Lions Club are going after the lobster hatchery in earnest. A special fisheries program is planned for early in December with a showing of the Departments' movies of the industry and a visit from leading men in the business. Vinalhaven appreciates the great opportunity that the industry offers for our towns along the coast.

THEN AND NOW

Returns From Congressional Elections In 1882 Were Same As Recently

Just now while the pot is brewing over the election it might be of interest to some of the readers of The Courier-Gazette to know how sentiment ran away back in 1882, so I am sending excerpts taken from the Republican Journal of Nov. 9, 1882, just after the election. Bearing in mind that the quickest way of getting the returns was by telegraph in those days instead of by radio, and also that the majority of people in the country depended on weekly newspapers to verify the reports heard previously.

Here follow the excerpts from the Journal of the above date, 39 States being heard from.

Latest by Telegraph

Bad news that is True—Democratic Victories all Along the Line.

"Reports tell an almost unvarying story of Republican losses and Democratic gains." The Democratic cyclone seems to have done its work pretty thoroughly. "The House of the next Congress will be Democratic without a doubt and possibly the Senate."

"But then Maine redeemed herself this year. 'We do not suppose for a moment that Republicans anywhere will be cast down or discouraged. The result is however, a little astonishing. We expected a shower but there came a deluge. There will inevitably be a reaction in public sentiment throughout the country and it will date from the reading of the returns of Tuesday's election. Next year we shall regain much of the lost ground, and in 1884 the Republican party will be fully equipped for victory. The remark has often been made before, but it was never truer than now, that 'this is an off year.'"

There is a saying that "history repeats itself" and when I read the above I had a thought that perhaps it might work out this time. At any rate the sentiments of people in 1882 and 1886 are much the same.

THE BAY BRIDGE
California Is Justly Proud of New Structure, Largest In the World

Several kind friends have sent us copies of California papers containing elaborate reports of the opening of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, among them Mrs. Grace Cilley Tibbets formerly of Rockland. From the Oakland Tribune's story we quote:

"The San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge was started on July 9, 1933, and is finished on scheduled time. It is the world's largest bridge—3 1/2 miles, with a length over water of 4 1/2 miles. It is the world's costliest bridge—$77,600,000. It required more material than any other bridge in history—200,000 tons of steel; 1,000,000 cubic yards of concrete; 200,000 gallons of paint. It required more supporting piers—51 in all, the smallest of them as big as a three-story house, on 100-foot piles. Some of these piers had to go deeper to reach bed rock than ever before—a maximum of 242 feet below water. For variety of engineering problems encountered, the bridge has no equal—the deep water, mud and quicksand bottom, tides, wind, tunneling through rock, the huge cantilever structure, the giant suspension span, the towers over which the suspension cables are hung range in height from 470 feet to 515 feet above water. They are built of several thicknesses of 1 1/4-inch steel plates riveted together. Each tower contains about 5000 tons of steel and 110,000 field rivets. The legs of the towers are built hollow, with steel ladders inside for use of riveters, painters and inspectors.

"The two cables stretching over the towers and supporting the bridge each contain 17,464 wires about as thick as a lead pencil. They are 28 1/2 inches thick and weigh a ton for every foot. If the wire in these cables were strung out in a single line, it would reach nearly three times around the earth. This wire has a tensile strength of 231,000 lbs. per square inch; and with the bridge in use, each cable will exert an average pull of 40,000,000 lbs., on the anchorages.

"The cantilever section of the East subject 'Education,' and his talk was enthusiastically received. Inspection of Harbor Light Chapter, O.E.S. takes place tonight preceded by supper at 6:30.

A daughter Nancy Meredith, was born Nov. 12 in Bangor to Mr. and Mrs. Ross P. Spear of East Corinth. Mr. Spear is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. True Spear of this town, and is now principal of East Corinth Academy.

Lawrence Dutton and Mrs. Annie Leighton were united in marriage Sunday evening at the Methodist Church, Rev. Z. Andrews officiating. The ceremony preceded the evening service and was witnessed by the congregation. The bride is the daughter of G. W. Miller of Rockport and Mr. Dutton is the son of Mrs. Jennie McAllister Dutton of Lincolnville.

Elmer Forest Staples and Geneva S. Littlefield both of Searsport were united in marriage Nov. 13 at the Methodist parsonage, Rev. Z. Andrews officiating.

(Solution to previous puzzle)

Bay crossing, with its 1400-ft. span and 510-ft. anchor arms, is in itself the highest, longest and heaviest cantilever structure in the country and the third longest in the world.

"Maximum clearance between bridge and water is 216 feet. Traffic will flow over the completed bridge along two decks, each 60 feet wide, one above the other. The upper deck has six lanes for automobiles. The lower provides three lanes for trucks and buses in addition to two electric railway tracks. Twenty-four million cars a year can cross the top deck and 6,000,000 trucks and buses the lower one without congestion. Loads up to 40-ton trucks and 70-ton interurban cars are provided for, as the bridge will carry 7000 lbs. live load per linear foot."

PROTECT OIL INDUSTRY
Purpose of Knox County Petroleum Committee Which Met Here

A reorganization meeting of the Knox County Petroleum Industries Committee, headed by R. A. Thurston of this city, was held here Thursday night at A. C. McLoon's wharf. Included on the committee are the following local men, Rhama Philbrick, A. C. McLoon, R. A. Thurston, E. A. Boone, C. J. Bowley, Charles H. Barry, H. P. Burgess and C. F. Smith. The committee has as its purpose the development and prosecution of a plan of action calculated to protect the oil industry and motorists from inimical legislation and further increased petroleum taxes.

Speaking before the gathering, Joseph B. Campbell, secretary of the Maine Petroleum Industries Committee, said, "The petroleum industry and its best customers the motorists are the targets for much of the proposed new taxes of the day. The petroleum tax bill represents about one-ninth of all taxes collected by federal, state and local governments. More money is collected from sales taxes on gasoline alone than is made by those who market the fuel.

"The industry repeatedly has expressed its willingness to bear a fair share of federal, state and local tax burdens but is opposed to unfair, excessive and disproportionate taxes upon its property, operations, products and customers."

The committee will function actively and hold frequent meetings during the period when the coming legislature remains in session.

This Safe, External Treatment Helps END A COLD Quicker

The 3-Minute VapoRub Massage

Massage VapoRub briskly on the throat, chest and back (between and below the shoulder blades). Then spread it thick over the chest and cover with warm cloth.

Almost before you finish rubbing, VapoRub starts to bring relief two ways at once—two direct ways:

1. Through the Skin. VapoRub acts direct through the skin like a poultice or plaster.

2. Medicated Vapors. At the same time, its medicated vapors, released by body heat, are breathed in for hours—about 18 times a minute—direct to the irritated air-passages. This combined poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation—helps break congestion.

YOUR NEXT COOK-STOVE SHOULD BE A modern ELECTRIC RANGE

YOU can't spend all your time in the kitchen even if you wanted to. You must have some freedom for other important things . . . shopping, visiting, recreation, and time for your family.

Careful planning of kitchen work helps—but the best laid plans often go wrong if your kitchen equipment isn't right. And nothing can tie you down quite so tight as an old-fashioned, inefficient range.

That's why modern homemakers have an automatic Hotpoint electric range. It brings a new freedom to women . . . new convenience . . . cleanliness . . . a new order of life.

Let electricity take the place of old-fashioned methods of cooking just as in lighting, washing, sweeping, etc. The more you use the less it costs per kw.

WAITING FOR SMOOTH SEA

Then Overboard Goes the New Telephone Cable, Replacing One 26 Years Old

A telephone cable which has carried your words and ours from the mainland to the Fox Islands for the past 26 years will go out of commission one day this week, and human voice will never again be heard over it.

Meantime there will have steamed into the bay those two familiar tow-boats the Sommers N. Smith and John Chester Morrison and the equally well known steamer lighter Sophia conveying the Snow Marine Co.'s car float, making a bee line from the Owl's Head shore to Crabtree's Point, North Haven and from the deck of the car float will be lowered the 36,000 feet of telephone cable, which, barring accident, will serve for telephonic communication between the mainland and Fox Islands many years to come.

Incidentally, we are told, it will be the second longest telephone cable in the United States.

A Courier-Gazette reporter found Maine Central wharf a decidedly busy place yesterday, while the telephone officials and Snow Marine Company were transferring the cable to the car float.

The cable arrived in the form of four huge reels, which were uncoiled onto the car float in the form of a figure eight, long experience having taught that this is the most efficient manner of handling cable to be laid. Twenty men, all told, were on the job yesterday, the work proceeding under the direction of Lewis Gray of Bangor, the highly capable division construction foreman of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. Assisting in the important work of the construction crew from the land office under the skilled leadership of its foreman, Donald Spear.

And now for a smooth sea and moderate wind and the job will be done in jig time.

A CLAM PROBLEM ARISES

Canada May Limit Exportation Into This Country—Our Supply Shrinking

A statement to the effect that Canada may limit the exportation of clams into this country was made by William Found, Deputy Minister of Fisheries, Saturday. Communicating with Commissioner Rodney E. Feyler of the Department of Sea and Shore Fisheries, Mr. Found said that the increasing demand from the United States market was threatening the great Charlotte County beds with depletion and that steps to adopt further regulations for their protection were being seriously considered.

"This would undoubtedly mean a shortage in this country and is an excellent argument why that the State of Maine should launch an extensive program of clam conservation and marine farming," stated Commissioner Feyler. Our clam business has reached a sad state of decline, due to overdigging without provisions for conservation, he pointed out, and the Canadian Government does not intend to make the same mistake.

Deputy Minister Found inquired as to what steps Maine was taking for conservation of its clam beds and why our supply was declining so rapidly. He stated that "as the result of this great demand from America our clam beds in Charlotte County area are being exploited to an extent that will make it probably necessary to adopt further regulations for their protection."

As the clam imports run very high there would most certainly be a scarcity in this country if the Canadian market was closed or limited. Commissioner Feyler has long advocated a marine farming program for Maine and will attempt to have provisions made for this work at the winter session of Legislature. Under the present regulations clams cannot be sold under two inches long providing the batch contains more than 15% of this size. For a period of about 10 years a law was effective whereby it was illegal to ship clams out of the State during the summer months. This was changed six years ago and a steady decline was noticed. The argument for changing the law was that due to the Depression many men needed work and could find it on the clam beds during the summer.

"That our clams are becoming exhausted is unquestionable," said the Commissioner. "Shipments are smaller, there are less men digging and less being sold. Canada realizes that we have allowed our great beds to become depleted and is going to profit by our mistakes. With the Canadian supply limited, prices would rise and with regulated and productive beds Maine would have a great opportunity to take advantage of this advancing market."

It is reported that large metropolitan dealers are showing much concern over the impending Canadian situation.

LINCOLN COLCORD AT CAMDEN

construction lists. It is hoped that the United States Government may eventually turn over to the custody of the Penobscot Marine Museum the older Custom House records of the Maine coast; this has already been done with the Newburyport records, which are in the keeping of the Newburyport Historical Society.

There is no marine periodical publication in the United States at all comparable to The Mariner's Mirror in Great Britain; the need for such a publication is obvious. The Maine coast is still rich in half-models ready to be acquired by patient search; these are the source material for studies in ship design. A catalogue of local ship paintings should be made; carefully selected acquisitions of this sort should be added to the Museum as funds permit their purchase.

Like all others who have been brought up in a coastal community where the tradition of the sea never dies, Mr. Colcord reads with mingled contempt and pity the stories told by fiction writers who make ships sail impossible courses and do impossible things.

"We are going to reconstruct out of the past a story of our finest old enterprise," said Mr. Colcord in conclusion. "We want people to contribute marine objects to our museum. We especially desire half models—which are the absolute source of ship designs of that period."

Wending Southward for a season's sunshine in Miami, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Fuller found cheer in transit, for their route lay through country boasting foliage brilliant in gold, amber and lovely reds of the oaks. Many gardens were still aflame with blossoms, particularly a wealth of chrysanthemums, while cotton fields flaunted their fleecy tops to the winds of heaven, none being saved for market. Miami is now having its hottest weather, but donning lighter garments, the Fullers lost no time in becoming re-acquainted with their winter home, a ride about the city affording them a general view of new hotels going up and a tremendous amount of building in progress. Among the first to be greeted was E. M. Lawrence of Rockland from whom it was learned that Mrs. Lawrence is to go abroad.

THANKSGIVING

Proclaiming Nov. 26 as Thanksgiving Day, Gov. Brann yesterday said Maine and the Nation have "every reason to be profoundly thankful" as the year 1936 draws to a close.

"In humble thanksgiving and in recognition of the blessings of divine providence," he said, "the people of Maine may well pause on the annual day which our New England forefathers established to offer our sincere gratitude to God."

"We give grateful thanks for a new era of American prosperity now assured here; for the wage increase affecting thousands of our citizens; for a higher standard of American living, for the many individual happinesses."

"It is an occasion for thanks that there is a broader recognition of the great truth that religion, based upon the simple precept of love of God and mankind, is the cornerstone of life, opportunity, of human happiness and sane thinking and living."

The Governor also said that "freedom of conscience and worship continue unimpaired."

"We are at peace with the world and with ourselves. We are secure in our freedom. We possess, as a people, equality of life and opportunity," he said.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

Tourists are arriving here with a rush now and cars are seen daily from all States in the Union. However, I am the only one from Maine in this city, so far, according to information from the Chamber of Commerce. In St. Petersburg, 25 miles south, there are plenty of visitors from the Pine Tree State.

Sarasota, a city of 13,000 population in summer and 25,000 in winter, is a fine place. I am camping in a large park set aside for trailers—the section being now one-quarter filled with 167 trailers. Full capacity of 2500 persons will probably be reached by Christmas. A likable couple from Oregon are my next door neighbors.

Without half trying I can throw a rock and hit the fence of the ball park where the Red Sox train. A bunch of star players is here already, having come early to play golf; in fact they are scattered all over the West Coast. I have met half a dozen of them and decided that old Dizzy is quite a boy! So are the Warner brothers. An all-star team is being organized to play the pick of the West Coast and you may well believe that I'll be on deck at that game.

Ringling Bros. Circus has just landed at its winter quarters here, so near that I went over to see the animals unloaded. Another pleasure I've had was swimming—temperature of the water posted at 78 degrees.

I have a lot here and expect to go to work in two weeks, which is soon enough for the heat gets me at first. They tell me it grows cooler in January. Everyone here is a booster for his town and that's what makes for prosperity. Residents do everything possible to make the visitor happy and comfortable, which certainly counts for a great deal.

DONATION DAY

Home For Aged Women Will Hold Open House November 24

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

It is again my pleasant duty to extend through the columns of your paper a cordial invitation to the citizens of Rockland to be present at the annual reception and tea at the Home For Aged Women on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 24, from 1 to 5 o'clock. Visitors are always welcome at the Home, but on Donation Day we keep open house for all our friends and well-wishers. The home is open for inspection, the members of the family will give you a cordial welcome and in the dining room the directors of the board of management will give you tea and dainty refreshments. Come and see what a comfortable homelike place it is and if perhaps you may wish to help us in our work we shall be grateful for your assistance. Gifts of money, food, groceries, fuel are always needed and welcome. We know that if you will come once and get acquainted with us, you will want to come again.

A Director of the Board.

Maine-iac At Large

By Alvary Gay

"I formed the habit of coming to Washington when I was five years old, and I am glad that I shall not lose that habit in the next four years." So said F. D. R. to the 100,000 people jammed onto the Union Station Plaza. How fortunate I was; you can picture for yourself; I saw the crowds, the flags and the President. I listened to the bands and the broadcast all from the vantage point of a high hotel roof.

Even Washington admits it was quite a sight. Diplomats and notables have come and gone, but never before have the people turned out as they did to welcome the re-elected President back to the capital. Washington always makes a pleasant stop on the North-to-South drive. It is, quoting again from President Roosevelt, the most beautiful city in the world.

I made it my third night stop on the trip down. And talk about ease! This new route No. 202 makes it a snap to come sailing down out of the New England states. The route runs from Wilmington, Delaware to Bangor. I think that the best way to hit it from Rockland is to go directly to Gorham. True the Maine end of it is as yet unmarked except for State numbers. Pick up State route No. 4 in Gorham and thence straight into Rochester, N. H., where No. 202 comes on the scene. Then regardless of gas station attendants or back-seat drivers you stick to that old No. 202 until you run squarely into U. S. No. 1 away down near Kennett Square, which is below Philadelphia.

Actually there are times when you get sort of lonesome for want of the familiar zzzp-zzzp or the smell of the other car's exhaust. But don't get the idea that you are far out in the country. You're not. You come through some of the nicest and cleanest little cities you could desire. For example, Morristown, N. J.; a city of nearly 20,000 inhabitants and with plenty of first class sleeping and eating places. This city serves as an example of what will happen when high taxes come along. Back a few years Morristown was one of the classy spots of Jersey. A great many families of vast wealth made it their home. Now due to the high rate of taxation these people are moving elsewhere. During the summer of 1936 eight mansions were torn down on one street in Morristown.

Leaving Washington I stayed on No. 1 only as far as Petersburg, Va. At that point Route No. 301 leads away almost straight to the South. And when it came time for the overnight stop I found myself in one of the queer parts of our country, The Carolinas and Georgia are a world by themselves, I do believe. One extra good stop which I would recommend that anyone try to make is in Waltherboro, S. C. There two enterprising men have built a complete travelers haven, The Lady Lafayette Hotel, Tourist Cottages and Grill.

The day after Waltherboro puts you in Florida. From there on it is a question of what place in the State you have decided on as your winter home. For me it is once again St. Petersburg. Already over 6,000 tourists have registered at the Chamber of Commerce; optimistic as usual the gentlemen of the realty business and some others look for another record-breaking season.

Among the new innovations are the parking meters on the main business street. Five cents for 30 minutes; sort of a good thing as it does keep open spaces in front of the business houses. Of course it won't do at all for those who never know what they go into a store for, but for those who want something in a hurry a nickel is nothing and the system should work out. There is however one rather clever dodge; a car pulls into a space in front of a store; the driver jumps out and drops in his nickel, rushes into the store and makes his purchase and dashes out and away. Perhaps his errand only took him 10 minutes. Well, the little green flag shows that there still remain 20 minutes parking time. So along comes Johnnie, very neatly parks and does his errand on the other fellow's nickel.

Warm? Mm-mm, nice. 72° on the front porch at 5 p. m.

METHEBESEC CLUB

Pirates of the Spanish Main and The Vikings On the Program

The Methebesec Club met last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gladys S. Heistad, Amesbury Hill, Rockport, with 40 members responding to roll call. Mrs. Adelaide E. Lowe was assisting hostess. A guest was Miss Annie M. Ervine of Round Pond, president of the Fortnightly Club of that town, who voiced her pleasure at being present in a most gracious manner. Mrs. Maude Blodgett acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Carrie Palmer who is ill. Reports having special interest were those from the Ways and Means Committee, Mrs. Edith Blaney, chairman, and Benevolence Committee, Mrs. Minnie Rogers, chairman. Mrs. Florence Snow was admitted to membership.

Miscellaneous events, devoted to health items, were presented by Mrs. Blodgett.

A paper, "Pirates of the Spanish Main," was presented by Mrs. Blanche Ellsworth, whose vivid word pictures brought forth such picturesque figures as Capt. Kidd, Black Beard, Blue Beard, Prince Rupert of the Rhine, and other famous pirates. Mrs. Ellsworth used two of her own poems written about pirates, witty and clever as the bits of fun she interspersed at times in her paper, making the whole most enjoyable. Of interest, too, were the pictures of Blue Beard's Castle at St. Thomas, procured by Mrs. Ellsworth during a trip there.

The Heistad home with its beautiful murals of Norwegian scenes was a particularly happy setting for Mrs. Heistad's paper "The Vikings," in which she touched upon several phases of the period in history known as The Viking Age, such as the expeditions shipbuilding, discoveries with special mention of Iceland, Greenland and Leiv Eiriksson's discovery of the mainland of North America in the year 1000, and the Viking Ship Finds with mention of the Gokstad and Oseberg ships which had been placed in their burial mounds in the 8th and 9th centuries. Mrs. Heistad displayed in connection with her paper an exquisite silver reproduction of a Viking ship, a counterpart of the Gokstad ship; Snorre Sturlasson's "Heimskringla" which is held as leading authority on early Scandinavian history (written in the 1200's); several books treating the Viking Age; pictures and booklets on the Viking Ship Finds, etc.

Mrs. Heistad closed her paper with a brief story of Olaf Trygvason, one of the most famous Vikings; also one of the most chivalric and heroic of early Norwegian kings, dwelling largely upon the famous battle of Svolder, fought Sept. 9, 1000, in which Olaf lost his life. Fitting perfectly into the picture was the singing by Mr. Heistad of "Olaf Trygvason" by Reissiger, a dramatic setting of Bjornson's poem based on the tragic death of the young king. Mrs. Heistad was at the piano.

The meeting Nov. 27, will be at the home of Mrs. Ruth Ellingswood, with Mrs. Blodgett as assisting hostess. The papers will be "Round the Horn in a Windjammer," given by Miss Castera Cushman, and "Clipper Ships" by Mrs. Mary Overlock. There will be miscellaneous events and music.

ENJOY YOUR DINNER

But With the Knowledge You've Enabled Someone Else To Have One

Rockland, Nov. 14
Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
Thanksgiving is the time when we should not only be thankful for our own special blessings—of family, home, health, and strength and for the necessities of life, but thankful for the opportunity to serve others who are less fortunate than ourselves—to visit the shut-ins and sick—to leave food where both cupboard and table are almost bare.

There are plenty of such places just now in Rockland. On my rounds of visitation I find so many who are facing Thanksgiving Day with their usual fare of baked beans; they do not complain, but is there not an opportunity here to put the meaning of Thanksgiving into practice. Your grocer will put up a basket for you and deliver it.

Then there are the old people—the Darby and Joans—lonesome and poor. Put up a small basket of fruit canned soup, glass of jelly and cookies. Deliver the basket yourself and be doubly blessed.

I will gladly supply names and addresses of such deserving folk. Enjoy your Thanksgiving better by sharing it with others.
